Date Prepared: July 10, 2003

Trade Name: G-FreezeKit Blast™

Common Name: Assisted Reproduction Media

Classification Name: Reproductive Media and Supplements

(21 C.F.R. § 884.6180)

Predicate Device: Blastocyst Freeze Media Kit (K000309)

Description of the Device: MOPS buffered media. For use in sequence after the addition of G-MM™ or HSA-solution™ and pre-equilibration at +20 ±5°C and ambient atmosphere.

Intended Use: Medium for In Vitro Fertilization Procedures

Indications for Use: Media for freezing of blastocyst stage embryos

Technological Characteristics:

The technological characteristics of G-FreezeKit Blast™ are similar to those of the predicate device. Both the G-FreezeKit Blast™ and the predicate device contain the cryopreservation ingredients Glycerol and Sucrose, which are added in a stepwise manner. In combination with G-ThawKit Blast™, the freezing solutions provide an equal concentration gradient of Glycerol and Sucrose in a step up - step down protocol for freezing and thawing of human blastocysts. The G-FreezeKit Blast™ contains Penicillin G as antibiotic instead of Gentamicin.

Dear Mr. Yingling:

We have reviewed your Section 510(k) premarket notification of intent to market the device referenced above and have determined the device is substantially equivalent (for the indications for use stated in the enclosure) to legally marketed predicate devices marketed in interstate commerce prior to May 28, 1976, the enactment date of the Medical Device Amendments, or to devices that have been reclassified in accordance with the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (Act) that do not require approval of a premarket approval application (PMA). You may, therefore, market the device, subject to the general controls provisions of the Act. The general controls provisions of the Act include requirements for annual registration, listing of devices, good manufacturing practice, labeling, and prohibitions against misbranding and adulteration.

If your device is classified (see above) into either class II (Special Controls) or class III (PMA), it may be subject to such additional controls. Existing major regulations affecting your device can be found in the Code of Federal Regulations, Title 21, Parts 800 to 898. In addition, FDA may publish further announcements concerning your device in the Federal Register.

Please be advised that FDA's issuance of a substantial equivalence determination does not mean that FDA has made a determination that your device complies with other requirements of the Act or any Federal statutes and regulations administered by other Federal agencies. You must comply with all the Act's requirements, including, but not limited to: registration and listing (21 CFR Part 807); labeling (21 CFR Part 801); good manufacturing practice requirements as set forth in the quality systems (QS) regulation (21 CFR Part 820); and if applicable, the electronic product radiation control provisions (Sections 531-542 of the Act); 21 CFR 1000-1050.

This letter will allow you to begin marketing your device as described in your Section 510(k) premarket notification. The FDA finding of substantial equivalence of your device to a legally marketed predicate device results in a classification for your device and thus, permits your device to proceed to the market.

If you desire specific advice for your device on our labeling regulation (21 CFR Part 801), please contact the Office of Compliance at one of the following numbers, based on the regulation number at the top of the letter:

8xx.1xxx	(301) 594-4591
